New Premier Of Japan

Count Gombel Yamamoto, who has been appointed Premier of Japan, to succeed the late Baron Kato. The appointment came as somewhat of a surprise in view of the recent attack on the Count by the Genro who advise the crown, and who were said to favor continuing the Kato Cabinet under the temporary Premiership of Viscount Uchida until the elections next May. Count Yamamoto ranks high in the political and social life of Japan. He was Premier from 1911 to 1914 and holds the title of Admiral. He is well known in this country, which he visited in 1907.

FORMER GOOD RELATIONS RESTORED BY CONFERENCE

Distrust Has Been Changed To Confidence, Says Premier Baldwin.

NORTHAMPTON, Sept. 27.—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, speaking here to-day, declared that his conference with Premier Poincare in Paris last week had the effect of restoring the former good relations between France and Great Britain. The atmosphere of restraint and almost of distrust that had prevailed between the two countries had been changed, he said, into one of mutual confidence. "I think there is now both in Paris and London recognition of the Entente's importance in this way, that without it a European settlement would be far more difficult. The best hope of settlement lies in intimate relationship between France and this country," Mr. Baldwin said.

STRIKE IS PROTEST OF OPERATIVES

German Government's Policy Is Not Popular.

DUSSELDORF, Sept. 27.—Miners in Gelsenkirchen, Recklinghausen and Wanne districts, in the heart of the Ruhr mine fields, declared a general strike to-day as the first action in protest against the Berlin Government's decision to give up passive resistance, and also against the exploitation of the district by the French. Six thousand miners had to quit work at noon.

DORTMUND, Sept. 27.—News of the Government's abandonment of passive resistance in the Ruhr reached the mining section late Tuesday afternoon and although the local newspapers have been forecasting such action, official verification of the Government's plan produced a feeling of profound depression among all classes of people. Labor leaders are admonishing the workers to remain calm and warning them against supporting the Communist agitation which they say is now seeking to feed on the present critical situation.

The situation is regarded as full of dangerous possibilities, but as furnishing no basis at present for any action on the part of the Allies.

BIRKENHEAD PREDICTS BIG INCREASE IN POPULATION

WINNIPEG, Sept. 27.—"I cannot discover any well informed students of sociology in the Dominion of Canada who do not believe that the next ten years will see an increase in your population of five million," said Lord Birkenhead, former Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, in the course of an address before the Canadian Club here, yesterday. He recommended free reciprocal trade with the British Empire.

Gives 100,000,000 Yen To Quake Victims

BULGARIA WILL FIGHT COMMUNISM

Last Ounce of Strength Will Be Used To Stop Westward Sweep of Sovietism.

SOFIA, Sept. 27.—Bulgaria will fight to the last ounce of her strength, not her own only, but the world's battle against Communism said President Seankoff yesterday in an interview with the Associated Press. Seankoff asserted that Communism after shattering civilization in Russia was trying to do Bulgaria a similar injury. The Third Internationale, he said, plans to extend Sovietism to other Balkan States and then sweep westward. In spite of our weakness we are determined to stop them or die in the attempt.

NEW SITUATION IS BALDWIN VICTORY

Question of Legality of Ruhr Occupation To Be Dropped For Present.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Premier Baldwin's pronouncement at Northampton is considered in political circles to have partly lifted the veil which hitherto has hidden recent conversations between Mr. Baldwin and Premier Poincare, and to have revealed the adoption of a new policy on the part of the British Government, brought about by the fresh situation in Germany.

Apparently the idea in political quarters is that a separate reply to Germany on reparations is for the present at least abandoned, and the question of the legality of the Franco-Belgian occupation of the Ruhr is to be quietly dropped.

Germany's unconditional abandonment of passive resistance seems to be held by British Ministers as justifying hope that it now will be possible for Great Britain and France again to cooperate in the work of securing solution of the reparations problem.

If this should prove to be the consequence of the recent Baldwin-Poincare interview and a new situation in Germany, it is said it will be represented by Liberal and Labor parties here as a complete surrender to France, and a triumph for Premier Poincare.

KINDRED OF THE DUST

By PETER B. KYNE

CHAPTER XXXV.

Here was a mystery! Mr. O'Leary in his Sunday clothes bound for Ireland, resembled Dirty Dan O'Leary in the raiment of a lumber-jack, his wild hair no longer controlled by judicious applications of pomade, and his mustache now—alas—returned to its original state of neglect, as a butterfly resembles a caterpillar. With out pausing to consider this, Dirty Dan, taking the license of a more or less privileged character, queried impudently:

"Are ye glad they sent for ye to come back?"

She decided that Mr. O'Leary was inclined to be familiar; so she merely looked at him and her cool glance chilled him. "Beuz if ye are," he continued, embarrassed, "ye have me to thank for it. I know a thing or two wit'out bein' told. Have ye not been surprised that they knew so well where to find ye when they wanted ye?"

She stared at him in frank amazement.

"Yes, I've been tremendously interested in learning the secret of their marvelous perspicacity."

"I supplied Mister Daney wit' yer address, allanah."

"How did you know it? Did the Laird—"

"He did not. I did it all be mesel'. Ah, 'tis the romantic divil I am, Miss Brint. Sure I got a notion ye were runnin' away an' I says to mesel': 'I don't like the idea at all, at all. I realized what a popular laddy body I'd be wit' Mister Donald if I knew what he didn't know.'"

"But how did you procure my address in New York?" she demanded.

"Now I'm a wise man, but if I told ye that ye'd be as wise as I am. Ye'll have to excuse me from blatherin' all I know."

"Oh, but you must tell me, Dan. There are reasons why I should know, and you wouldn't refuse to set my mind at ease, would you?"

Dirty Dan grinned and played his ace.

"If ye'll sing 'The Low-backed Car' and 'She Moved through The Fair,' I'll tell ye," he promised. "Sure I listened to ye the night o' the battle, an' so close to death was I, sure I thought 'twas an angel from glory singin'. Troth, I did."

She sat down, laughing, at the antiquated piano, and sang him songs he loved; then, because she owed him a great debt, she sang for him "Kathleen Mavourneen," "Pretty Molly Brannigan," "The Harp That Once," and "Killarney." Dan stood just outside the kitchen door, not presuming to enter, and when the last song was finished, he had tears in his piggy little eyes; so he fled with the posies, nor tarried to thank her and wish her a pleasant good night. Neither did he keep his promise by telling her how he came to know her New York address.

"Let me hear anny blackguard minion her name with a lack o' respect, an' I'll break the back o' him in two halves! Whirro-o-o! Sure I'd make a mummy out o' him!"

CHAPTER XXXVI

A MONTH PASSED, and to the Sawdust Pile one evening, instead of Dirty Dan, there came another messenger. It was Mr. Daney. To Nan's invitation to enter and be seated, he gave ready acceptance; once seated, he showed indubitable evidence of uneasiness, and that he was the bearer of news of more than ordinary interest was apparent by the nervous manner in which he twirled his hat and scattered over her clean floor a quantity of sawdust which had accumulated under the rim during his peregrinations round the mill that day.

"Well, Nan, he went home to The Dreamer's this afternoon," the general manager began presently. "Got up and dressed himself unaided, and insisted on walking out to the car without assistance. He's back on a solid diet now, and the way he's filling up the chinks in his superstructure is a sight to marvel at. I expect he'll be back on the job within a month."

"That is wonderful news, Mr. Daney."

"Of course," Daney continued, "his hair is falling out, and he'll soon be as bald as a Chihuahua dog. But—"

"—it'll grow in again. Yes, indeed. It'll grow in."

"Oh, dear! I hope it'll grow out," she muttered, in an effort to put him at his ease. "What a pity if his illness should leave poor Don with a head like a thistle—with all the fuzzy-wuzzy inside."

He laughed.

"I'm glad to find you in such good spirits, Nan, because I've called to talk business. And, for some reason or other I do not relish my job."

"Then, suppose I dismiss you from this particular job, Mr. Daney. Suppose I decline to discuss business."

"Oh, but business is something that has to be discussed sooner or later," he assured her, on the authority of one whose life had been dedicated to that exacting duty. "I suppose you have kept track of your expenses since you left New York. That of course, will include the outlay for your living expenses while here, and in order to make doubly certain that we are on the safe side, I am instructed to double this total to cover the additional expenses of your return to New York. And if you'll set a value upon your lost time from the day you left New York until your return, both days included, I will include that in the check also."

"Suppose I should charge you a thousand dollars a day for my lost time," she suggested curiously.

"I should pay it without the slightest quibble. The Laird would be delighted to get off so cheaply. He feels himself obligated to you for returning to Port Agnew."

"Did The Laird send you here to adjust these financial details with me, Mr. Daney?"

"He did not. The matter is entirely in my hands. Certainly, in all justice, you should be reimbursed for the expenses of a journey voluntarily incurred for the McKaye benefit."

"Did he say so?"
"No. But I know him so well that I have little difficulty in anticipating his desires. I am acting under Mrs. McKaye's promise to you over the phone to reimburse you."

"I am glad to know that, Mr. Daney. I have a very high regard for Donald's father, and I should not care to convict him of an attempt to settle with me on a cash basis for declining to marry his son. I wish you would inform The Laird, Mr. Daney, that what I did was done because it pleased me to do it for his sake and for Donald's. They have been at some pains, throughout the years, to be kind to the Brents, but unfortunately for the Brents, opportunities for reciprocity have always been lacking until the night Mrs. McKaye telephoned me in New York. I cannot afford the gratification of very many happy desires—even very simple ones, Mr. Daney—but this happens to be one of the rare occasions when I can. To quote, Sir Anthony Gloster, 'Thank God I can pay for my fancies!' The Laird doesn't owe me a dollar, and I beg you, Mr. Daney, not to distress me by offering it."

"But, my dear girl, it must have cost you at least five hundred dollars—"

"What a marvelous sunset we had this evening, Mr. Daney. Did you observe it? My father always maintained that those curious clouds predicted southwest squalls."

"I didn't come here, girl, to talk about sunsets. You're foolish if you do not accept—"

The outcast of Port Agnew turned upon Mr. Daney with a pair of blue eyes that flashed dangerously.

"I think I have paid my debt to the McKayes," she declared, and in her calm voice there was a sibilant little note of passion. "Indeed I have a slight credit balance due me, and the Mrs. McKaye and her daughters cannot bring themselves to the point of acknowledging this indebtedness. I must insist upon collecting it. In view of the justice of my claim, however, I cannot stultify my womanhood by permitting the McKaye women to think they can dismiss the obligation by writing a check. I am not an abandoned woman, Mr. Daney, I have sensibilities, and strange to say, I too, have pride—more than the McKayes I think sometimes. It is possible to insult me, to hurt me, and cause me to suffer cruelty, and I tell you, Mr. Daney, I would rather lie down and die by the roadside than accept one penny of McKaye money."

Mr. Daney stared at her, visibly distressed.

"Why, what's happened?" he blurted.

She ignored him.

"I repeat that The Laird owes me nothing—not even his thanks. I met him one night with Mrs. McKaye on the hospital steps, and he tendered me his meed of gratitude like the gentleman that he is."

"Oh, I see!" A great light had suddenly dawned on Mr. Daney. "The Laird led trumps, but Nellie McKaye—"

She ignored him.

revoked and played a little duce?"

"Well, Mr. Daney, it seemed to me she fumbled the ball, to employ a sporting metaphor. She bowed to me—like this—and smiled at me—like that!" Her cool, patronizing nod and the sudden contraction and relaxation of Nan's facial muscles brought a wry smile to old Daney's stolid countenance. "Even if I felt that I could afford to or was forced to accept reimbursement for my expenses and lost time, her action precluded it. Can't you realize that, Mr. Daney? And Jane and Elizabeth went her one—on, two—better, I'm going to tell you about it. I went up-town the other day to send a telegram, and in the telegraph office I met Donald's sisters. I knew they would not care to have me speak to them in public, so, when the telegrapher wasn't looking at me and intuition told me that they were, I glanced up and favored them with a very small but very polite smile of recognition."

"And then," quoted Mr. Daney, reaching into his ragbag of a mind and bringing up a remnant of Shakespeare, "there came a frost—a killing frost!"

"Two hundred—and forty-five—degrees below zero, and not even a stick of kindling in the wood-box," she assured him humorously. "They looked at me, through me, over me, beyond me—"

"And never batted an eye?"

"Not even the flicker of an eyelash."

Commandant Hurd Leaves To-morrow

Extends Thanks to All Helpers in Maternity Hospital Campaign

COMMANDANT HURD, financial representative for the Maritime Provinces, Newfoundland and Bermuda, of the Salvation Army, who has been here for the past three months in the interest of the new Maternity Hospital, sails to-morrow on the s.s. Rosalind for his home in Moncton. On October 10th, he leaves for Toronto, to attend the annual convention which is conducted by the Chief of the Staff, second in command of the world-wide Salvation Army.

The Commandant has done exceptionally well, considering the financial conditions of the country just now, and he wishes to thank the different organizations who have come to his assistance on the first Tag-day he had. Mrs. Harry Peddigrue, with her band of workers, and Mrs. D. Johnson, and the comrades of the corps did exceptionally well. The second Tag-day was run by the Daughters of the Empire and the Girl Guides. Considering the wet weather they did exceptionally well, and the Commandant wishes to thank Miss Hayward, Miss Furlong, and Mrs. Hutchings for the good work they did, also Mr. Higgins, Mr. H. Cowan and Mr. G. R. Williams, for the splendid assistance given.

The opening of the hospital was a great success. The presence of the Governor and Lady Allardye and those associated with them was very much appreciated, and added greatly to the success of the opening.

Commandant Hurd also wishes to thank Rev. Mrs. Earp, of St. Thomas's, Mrs. Canon Jeeves of the C. of E. Cathedral, Mrs. D. Johnston, of the Presbyterian Church, and the Home League leaders of the different corps, as well as the officers and those associated with them, for the splendid service rendered in supplying the refreshments. Also Lady Winter, for supplying the Governor's table, and Mr. A. E. Canning for supplying the flowers from Bowring Park for the Governor's table; also Mr. Taylor of the Southside, for lending the boilers, as well as Dr. McPherson for the loan of a tent for Regatta Day. He also wishes to thank His Worship the Mayor for many deeds of kindness, and Sir Marmaduke Winter, who did everything he could to assist in the campaign, and Dr. Roberts is especially thanked for the ordering of the sterilizing and operating outfits, to meet the needs of the hospital, and those who have seen these outfits know what a splendid apparatus it is. Thanks are also due to Colonel and Mrs. Cloud, and the Headquarters Staff for what has been done in helping and subscribing towards the effort.

Five thousand dollars more are needed to meet the cost of furnishings.

Although Commandant Hurd will leave here to-morrow, he will be returning the first or second week in November, to try and get the balance that is necessary.

If any subscriber does not receive his paper regularly please send in name, address and particulars of same so that the matter may be rectified.

Empire Steel Expects Japanese Contracts

After a meeting of the board of directors of the British Empire Steel Corporation, it was announced that D. H. McDougall, vice-president, had resigned, and that George F. Downs, late president of the Lackawanna Steel Company had been appointed a director and member of the executive committee.

Mr. McDougall remains a member of the board. He was president of Nova Scotia Steel when the present company absorbed it. He has been identified with the steel and coal industry of Nova Scotia for many years, having been associated with the Dominion Coal Company for many years. Mr. Downs, the new director, is an experienced steel-man.

It is stated that the steel business has shown considerable improvement of late, particularly as regards export business and the prospects of securing Japanese large contracts are bright. It may be necessary to start another blast furnace shortly to meet the increased demand.

As regards the coal business, the president stated that production during August on the north side of Sydney harbor was the largest in any month in the history of that district, while the production in the Glace Bay district in August was larger than any month since the beginning of 1916.—Montreal Star.

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, FRIDAY, SEPT. 28th., 1923

The Spirit of the Board of Trade

Several members of the Board of Trade, including Mr. Monroe, evidenced an extreme narrow-mindedness of spirit in their discussion of the flour-mill project. They followed too closely the type of the Daily News and Telegram and exposed themselves to the ridicule of the general public by allowing their speeches to be coloured by party politics and personal spite.

So obsessed are certain of these members against Coaker and the F. P. U. they could not enter into a discussion of some other party's business proposition without dragging Unionism into their utterances, an action of which they should now be entirely sickened. Carried on for 15 years and through three election campaigns, their deceptive harangues have become so monotonous, as to be a form of fanaticism.

If the flour mill project were not associated with the F. P. U. or with Sir William Coaker, it was, in their opinion, worthy of consideration. If it were connected with Port Union, then they would fight it, irrespective of whether they thought it was beneficial to the country or not.

What a petty spirit of narrowness is this to be evidenced by members of the body who would be supposed to represent the business community of the whole country!

If it is Coaker or Port Union, down it; if it is not Coaker, it should be considered.

It was against such opposition as this, and against such a lack of public spirit as this, that Coaker and the Union outportmen had to contend since the F. P. U. entered the field in 1908.

Even so late as last spring the same attitude was displayed by majority of the Board of Trade against the Humber proposition which now employs 2300 workmen.

Proportional Representation

The first real try-out of Proportional Representation in the English speaking world was had in the recent Free State elections. The conditions were favorable because of the entrance of several groups into the field. In the 147 contested seats the first-preference votes were distributed among the parties as follows (the second column of figures showing the seats obtained by each):

	Votes	Seats.
Government	400,201	60
Republican	285,213	44
Farmers	121,756	15
Labor	124,235	15
Independents	97,267	13
Total	1,034,672	147

If the parties had won seats in exact proportion to first-preference votes the distribution would have been: Government, 58; Republicans, 40; Farmers, 17; Labor, 18; Independents, 14. The correspondence between the party strengths in the country and in the Dail is close enough to justify the Proportional Representation Society of Great Britain in claiming that the system has achieved what was expected of it. It was an exceptional situation, as the supporters of the Anglo-Irish Treaty were divided into four groups. Even now opinion is not agreed as to what the consequences would have been if the old method of voting had been retained. In one-member constituencies especially, when there are more than two candidates running, the return of minority candidates has been the rule rather than the exception in innumerable elections in all countries. Because of this the present British Government, for example, represents a minority of the popular vote. This may be pleasing to British Conservatives, but they would deplore a Republican victory in Ireland on the same basis.

Premier Baldwin's Statement

Premier Stanley Baldwin's declaration at Northampton yesterday that his recent conference with Premier Poincare in Paris had had the effect of restoring complete confidence between the two great nations of Europe is perhaps the most important announcement that has been recorded since post-war problems began to occupy the centre of the international political stage. The deadlock resulting from the failure of Great Britain and her Republican ally to see eye to eye on the matter of German reparations undoubtedly assumed a serious aspect, so much so, that a rupture in the Entente was for a time regarded as inevitable. France's determination not to recede from her policy of occupation, despite the evil influence which such a policy was held to be exercising upon the industrial life of her neighbor and ally across the Channel, created an impasse that called for the most careful handling. That the situation was largely the result of misunderstanding seems now beyond doubt and had Britain lacked the guiding hand of a master statesman and diplomat there might well be a different story to tell to-day.

Premier Baldwin took the position that the greatest hope for the ultimate settlement of the inter-allied difficulties lay in maintaining the old friendly relations between England and France. This was presumably the motive behind his visit to Paris, and while no definite basis of settlement of the European trouble resulted from his conference with Poincare, we are assured that inestimable good has come from it.

The Telegram Confesses

The Telegram has contended that, to a large extent, the trouble with the fishery problem is the way fishermen cure their fish. In other words, the fishermen have themselves to blame for low prices and the merchants would pay the high prices if the fishermen gave them the right goods.

For some days the Advocate has been endeavouring to impress the Evening Telegram with the fact that its opinions on such a matter were not worth much.

The Telegram goes a little further and says we have made much ado about nothing.

"Nothing" is right. It is quite a confession, even if it is the truth.

Oilfield Expert Speaks Well of New Find

IMPORTANT RESULTS AT THE PALMER WELL

We learn that there have been interesting developments at what is known as the Palmer Well (named after Father Palmer, of Boston) on the property of the General Oil fields, Ltd., at Parsons Pond. This is a new well started near the end of last year, but at which work was held up until a month ago by the late arrival of a boiler from America. In the middle of August the well was cased and drilling was restarted about three weeks ago when the depth was a little less than 900 feet. At from that depth to 1000 feet gas was encountered, and on Monday, September 16th there was a good first show of oil. On the following day the workmen bailed upwards of a ton and the oil stood in the hole to a depth of 100 feet. Mr. Henry has forwarded this information to the Minister of Agriculture and Mines. He states that this discovery at 1066 feet is the most important yet made in this oilfield. In the previous wells nothing better than shows were discovered at this comparatively shallow depth. Oil was not expected at less than 1500 feet and the well will be drilled to that depth for the purpose of tapping a more prolific formation. It was at this site, where when this well was started, Mr. Henry reported that oil of an exceptional quality would be found. He is certain that oil will be found to justify his expectations. He believes it will be proved on analysis to be the best quality of oil found in the colony. Samples have been forwarded to London and St. John's.

Mr. Matthew Ramage an oil man from Brownwood, Texas, is spending a fortnight looking over oil claims between Parsons Pond and St. Paul's Bay. He will also visit Hawke's Bay, where the group he represents also has oil claims. He was staying with Mr. Henry when the strike was declared yesterday among the miners in several mining districts in the Ruhr.

The strike is designed to show the workers' disapproval of the condemnation of passive resistance.

The first reports were that the strike was of a general nature, for unlimited duration, but later advices show the intent as a protest gesture, and that work would be resumed in the mines to-day.

oil was struck in the Palmer Well. Concerning the quality of this oil he states it is the best he has seen anywhere outside the Pioneer field in Texas, where the oil is of 46 gravity. In this respect it is likely to attract considerable interest in the oil world. The discovery was immensely interesting to him because it was made on the occasion of his first visit to the oil fields of the Colony.—Western Star.

MOSCOW, Sept. 28.—M. Lafoff, chairman of the Russian Karelian Boundary Commission has been killed and two members wounded by assassins at the frontier, while returning to Finland, according to despatches.

CASPER, N.Y., Sept. 28.—At least forty persons are believed to be dead, and scores injured, in the wreck of a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train which plunged thru a bridge fourteen miles east of here last night, and buried itself in the swollen waters of the big muddy river.

Thrilling rescues were a feature of the wreck, eight escaped from a submerged car by crawling hand over hand on the rope suspended from bank to bank and lowered to within their reach.

Those dead were trapped in their berths, and in the coaches, and were drowned before there was a chance for escape or rescue.

SOFIA, Sept. 28.—The city of Ferdinandovo was occupied to-day by the government forces, the communist revolutionaries thus having lost their last centre of resistance. The occupation was made possible by the capture of Berkowitza, Saturday night, this success opening the way to Ferdinandovo.

TEHERAN, Sept. 28.—Several earthquake shocks have again been felt at Kerman, where much damage has been done. Tremors also have been experienced at Bujaud, Rafsanjan, Bahr and Anar. It is reported that smoke is issuing from a mountain near Bujaud.

DUSSELDORF, Sept. 28.—A demonstration strike of twenty-four hours was declared yesterday among the miners in several mining districts in the Ruhr.

Criminals Making Use of War Gases

Serious Menace Seen from Tear, Sneezing and Other Dangerous Fumes

NEED GREATER SAFEGUARDS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Disturbed at the extent to which tear gas and other products used in chemical warfare are falling into private hands. War Department officials are making a thorough study of the problem with a view to drafting legislation calculated to prevent their indiscriminate manufacture and sale.

Tear gas and certain other products are becoming more and more popular as weapons for police, prison and asylum officers in the apprehension and control of criminals and maniacs—in fact criminals themselves are learning to use these products effectively and it is feared that unless some means of control is devised the new weapons which have proved so valuable to law officers may develop into a boomerang.

It is reported that the Police Departments of the 600 cities are now equipped with tear gas and apparatus for its use. The first use of this gas by Police Departments was in the form of grenades, tanks and bombs, which were found particularly efficient for work against criminals who had barricaded themselves and against riotous mobs in the streets.

The most recent development of the use of tear gas is the so-called projector, now employed by the Washington Police Department and those of other large cities. It consists of two small tanks about 7 inches high and two and a half inches in diameter, one of which is filled with tear gas while the other is a high-pressure tank capable of projecting the gas from twenty-five to fifty yards, and its flow can be turned on or off like a hose.

This device has proven popular for use in prisons and insane asylums, where intervening walls or bars make the throwing of bombs difficult if not impossible. Projectors can be procured only under a strict system of numbering and registration.

Reports received by the War Department indicates that in one way or another criminals are not only learning the use of tear gas, but also are providing themselves with masks for protection against it. An example in the first instance is the case of bootleggers who had equipped their automobile with a tank of tear gas, which was released through the exhaust, rendering pursuit by motorcycle police impossible.

In fact the practice of criminals in providing themselves with masks for protection against tear gas has caused the police authorities of some cities to seriously consider the use of some other gas that is capable of penetrating these masks. This would involve the use of chemical products that are not so harmless in their effects as tear gas. Sneezing gas is very penetrating and while not so deadly as phosgene or mustard gas it has a noticeable after effect when taken in considerable quantities.

RESPONSIBILITY LIES ON EXPORTERS' SHOULDERS

Fishermen Support Advocate's Contention That Half Measures Are Useless.

Princeton, B.B.
Editor Advocate.

Dear Sir,—The great majority of the fishermen are behind the Advocate in its remarks about the Telegram's pronouncement concerning standardization or the cull of fish. It appears to most of us that they want to bite the poor man every time. They are not content to bite the poor man every time—they want to shout about it in their newspapers.

Thank God we have a newspaper to stick up for the toiler's rights and show the men, who would not know a codfish from a sculpin that the fishermen are not so blind as they used to be.

They can see a thing or two now and they know a good deal more about fish and the cure of fish than lots of individuals who assume the right to lay the blame of fishery problems on our shoulders.

They should be well ashamed of themselves, after fishermen slaving from one end of the summer to the other in all kinds of weather to insult them by saddling them for the neglect of the exporters of Water Street.

Fishermen try to make as good an article as they can, for we all know it is better to have good fish than bad. But what encouragement do we get, anyhow?

The fishermen tried to conform with the standardization rules when President Coaker and the Government were trying to get the fish marketed in a proper way. We kept the rules even when we knew the merchants were using them to fleece us on the grades of our fish. They had Coaker and the Government to blame then, now they and their servile newspapers want to blame the fishermen.

The fishermen are not fools. They know who the wirepullers are who sacrifice the toilers and then accuse them for the rotten conditions which they are responsible for.

Give us a sound, business system and the fishermen will do their part.

Wishing the Union every success.

Germans Living With No Stomach

SURGEONS CUT THEM OUT—NEW ANAESTHETIC IS IN USE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—A new method of anesthesia now in use in Germany and Austria is described by Dr. S. B. Pennock, surgeon-in-chief of the Osteopathic Hospital, just returned from a three months' tour of hospitals in Europe. It is known as aplanchnic anaesthetic, he said, and permits a patient to watch an abdominal operation with full consciousness.

It is in general use in Europe, and Dr. Pennock administered it himself three times. It is in the form of a nova-caine, and is injected into the abdominal cavity.

The anaesthesia minimizes the shock to the patient's heart, Dr. Pennock said. Many Germans and Austrians are now living without their stomachs, he said, due to the drastic practice now in vogue by German surgeons.

The German doctors are removing the stomachs from a large number of patients suffering from ulcers and other gastric disorders.

"The diet enforced by war conditions," Dr. Pennock said, "has caused much illness in these countries."

Tuberculosis, cancer and goitre, the latter due to snow water from the mountains, are very prevalent. The former is treated very successfully by the sunlight treatment, hundreds at a time undergoing the treatment in open spaces laid out for the purpose.

"There is great rivalry between the pathologists and surgeons over there. Every death in hospital has a post-mortem and in case of error, the offending surgeon is promptly shown up in the medical and scientific journals."

The preposterous slogan of the bloody Ku Klux Klan is that America should be "White, Nordic, Protestant, Gentle." This is preposterous for the simple but sufficient reason that, to evict all who do not fall within that classification, it would be necessary to evict about sixty per cent. of the entire population!

Furthermore, I assert (albeit I happen myself to be "White, Nordic, Protestant and Gentle") that all the virtues are not the exclusive possession of people falling under this classification. Still further, such people possess many evils and defects in their character. All peoples and all races possess both virtues and vices. There is no people or no race that is all good or all bad. It is absurd to indict a race or a people.

The various races of the world have produced various civilization and various cultures. It is the height of absurdity to argue over the superiority or inferiority of one culture of civilization or another. It is like debating over the weighty point of the superiority of men over women, or women over men, or arguing as to which of the two is the more important. Men and women are both necessary to the race. Similarly, all races, all civilizations, all cultures are necessary to make up the world civilization, the world culture.

The German culture possesses certain virtues in excess of Italian culture and vice versa. The same may be said of German-English cultures, or of English-French, or of any comparative civilizations.

This is peculiarly true of the United States, which is made up of people of all races and nationalities. The American character is a cosmopolitan one, being derived from the many currents and forces within its borders.

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, the world-famous electrical engineer, usually called "the electrical wizard," in his interesting book, "America and the New Era," which I have just been reading, writes entertainingly of this feature:

"The American nation," he says, "was formed—or rather is being formed, since it is still in the formation period—by the commingling of the Anglo-Saxon, Teuton, Celt, Slav and Mediterranean. None of these races is in the majority, or even in such a large minority that it could expect to have character, its viewpoints, habits and temperament predominate in the resultant race.

"The white population of the United States probably comprises about 30 to 35 per cent. of Anglo-Saxon origin (English, Scotch, etc.), and about 30 per cent. of Teuton origin (German, Dutch, Scandinavian, etc.), 15 per cent. of Celtic origin (Irish), and 20 to 25 per cent. Slav and Mediterranean.

"The American race thus cannot be Anglo-Saxon, or Teuton, or Irish, or Slav or Latin, but must have characteristics of all these races; and to talk about 'blood is thicker than water,' and apply this to 'our British cousins,' or speak of Germany as 'Fatherland,' or of our country as 'Greater Ireland,' this is not American citizenship, but is racial sectarianism, and as such to be condemned as reprehensible, since it retards the bringing about of the racial unity which is the first and fundamental requirement of a stable nation."

"It must be realized," points out Dr. Steinmetz, who, by the way, is a keen student of social forces as well as a great electrician, "that it was the mixed races which have done the world's work, and it was the vitality given by the mixture of races which has created all great nations. Thus England as a nation was formed by the mixture of the Norman and the Anglo-Saxon; France by the Celt, Roman and Frank; far back before history tradition tells of the creation of the Roman nation by the tri-union of tribes—even the name 'tribe' contains the root 'three,' in memory of this formation of the Roman nation from three branches.

"Thus there is no doubt that had it not been for the mixture of the various leading races of the world, America would not be what it is today.

"The characteristic of the Anglo-Saxon is his great initiative. He is the empire-builder. To him is due the push and the energy which have opened and conquered the New World.

"The Teutons, by their racial characteristics, are the great organizers. We only need, in the history of our nation, think of a few names, as Astor, Goethals, Guggenheim, Harriman, Roosevelt, Schiff, Schwab, Strauss, Vanderbilt, Vanderlip, Rockefeller, Wanamaker, etc.

"Characteristic of the Celtic race is the strong collectivistic temperament, associated with an individualistic nature, which specially fits them as administrators. Thus the Celt has been most successful in politics. It is characteristic that America's largest city (New York) has been ruled almost uninterruptedly by the Celtic race.

"And now about the contribution to America by the other races, outside of these three leading civilized races of to-day? Do not let us forget that the greatest of all Americans was neither Anglo-Saxon, nor Teuton; nay, was not even Aryan, but was of the Turanian race—Abe Lincoln."

My spirit has passed in compassion and determination around the whole earth.

I have look'd for equals and lovers and round them ready for me in all lands, I think some divine rapport has equalized me with them.

All you continentals of Asia, Africa, Europe, Australia, indifferent of place!

All you on the numberless islands of the archipelagos of the sea! And you of centuries hence when you listen to me!

And you each and everywhere whom I specify not, but include just the same!

Health to you! good will to you all, from me and America sent!

Each of us is inevitable. Each of us limitless—each of us with his or her right upon the earth.

Each of us allowed the eternal purposes of the earth.

Each of us here as divinely as any is here.

Life Restored To Child After Death on Operating Table

LONDON, Sept. 20. — (Canadian Press Cable).—A remarkable story of a child dying during an operation and then being brought back to life for a short time was told to a coroner at Westminster last night at an inquest on the death of a nine-year-old girl.

The girl had undergone several operations and recently underwent another. Her heart stopped beating. She died. Massage and other remedies were applied and her heart began to beat again. The heart kept on beating for an hour and a quarter and the girl began to breathe. She was taken back to the ward in the hospital from which she had been brought but collapsed and died.

The hospital doctor said the girl's death was due to heart failure. The coroner said a miracle had been performed and had it not been for the condition of the girl's blood the chances were that she might have recovered completely.

"My celery seems to wilt so quickly and I cannot get it fresh again," sighed Mrs. Newlywed.

"Leave it for a few hours in cold water to which a little salt has been added. This will freshen it wonderfully," said Mrs. Neighbor.

Mrs. Timberlake makes her specialty, Chicken Delight, with Libby's Milk

A place where exceptionally delicious foods are temptingly served is Tim's T. Table in Lynchburg, Virginia.

And among all the good things served there, none is more popular than Chicken Delight. It's a specialty of Mrs. Timberlake's, a dish that she makes as you do your favorite—with every care to have it perfect.

That she uses Libby's Milk in it, as shown by the recipe above, is just another bit of evidence that this milk is best for cooking purposes.

Thousands of other good cooks are using it regularly; so many of them, in fact, that Libby's is now generally known as "the milk that good cooks use."

Chicken Delight

Recipe from Mrs. L. Howard Timberlake, Lynchburg, Va.

1 cup chicken stock (or 1/4 stock, 3/4 water) 1/2 cup Libby's Milk
Blend flour with the cold liquid and beat to boiling, stirring constantly; cook 10 minutes and add—

1 pimiento 1/2 green pepper
1/2 cup mushrooms Salt and pepper
1/2 cup celery (cut in 1/4 inch pieces) 1 hard-cooked egg small pieces and 1 hard-boiled egg parboiled till ten- (cut in small pieces)

Heat slowly and serve on toast garnished with parsley. This makes six generous servings.

7 1/2 teaspoons of butter fat in every can

They notice, as you will, that anything made with Libby's Milk has greater richness, finer flavor. It must, for there are 7 1/2 teaspoons of pure butter fat in every 16 oz. can of this milk—the very same butter fat that makes cream and butter such great enrichers of foods.

Cow's milk made double rich
Unlike ordinary milk, you see, Libby's Milk comes only from selected herds in the finest dairy sections of the country—those places where ideal pasture lands abound, and where men specialize in raising cows that give exceptionally rich milk.

Not only that. At our condenseries in the heart of these favored dairy sections, we remove more than half the moisture from this fine milk, making it double rich.

Nothing is added to it; none of the food values taken away. But to bring it safely to you who live far from many hundreds of miles away, we must seal it in air-tight cans and sterilize it.

Have richer dishes tonight
Order a can of Libby's Milk from your grocer today. Try it tonight in one of your favorite dishes, in place of ordinary milk. See what wholly new richness it gives. And what fine flavor. You'll want Libby's Milk for all your cooking!

Write for free recipe folder
Upon request we'll gladly send you, free, a copy of a new folder which contains a number of excellent recipes sent us by good cooks who use Libby's Milk.

Greece Orders Return of Lands Seized From Bulgars

ATHENS, Sept. 3 (AP).—As an assurance of its desire to cultivate friendly relations with Bulgaria under the new regime, the Greek government has notified the provincial authorities that all Bulgarians interned on Aegean islands from Western Thrace during the operations of the war with Turkey must be returned to their original homes.

The restoration of all seized properties of these interned inhabitants, on no more direct proof than the testimony of their neighbors, has also been ordered.

All Bulgarians who have fled from Western Thrace will also be permitted to return to their homes, and their properties, which have been seized by military authorities or by deserters, will be restored on the conditions as those of the inhabitants now released from internment.

It is estimated that these orders of restitution affect between 150,000 and 200,000 persons.

HEALTH HINTS

The more tired one is the more difficult it is to keep home conditions up to the top notch, says Nurse, and, too, the more important this is. Hunger is actually a matter of the mind and body. It is not fancy but is a solid and serious fact that a soiled tablecloth will sometimes prevent the flow of gastric juices and start indigestion.

A large amount of nervous exhaustion is because many women of the present day do not think it necessary to serve a dinner well. After one has been working all day long it is a fine thing, too, for the worker to spend five minutes at their toilet before sitting down to the meal.

It is not well to eat in the same clothes that you have worn during the long working day. This is not a question of looks; it is the appetite. There will be more gastric juices and the food will digest better if you have on fresh clothing. Rinse the mouth well before starting to eat and eat very slowly. Chew thoroughly but not enough to destroy the taste of your food.

The most usual form of nasal catarrh, says Nurse, is inflammation of the mucous membrane. Undoubtedly it affects the general health and absorbs certain nutriment that should go to other parts of the body. It also affects other nerves that lie in the region of the affliction Nurse advises this remedy.

Get some borax acid powder and an ordinary nasal syringe. Put a teaspoon of the powder into a pint of hot water and, when dissolved thoroughly, syringe the inside of the nose. After this sniff the powder up into each nostril. This should be done each morning and again at night just before retiring. It will not be long before you will begin to feel benefited. It should, however, be kept up for a month or more twice a day, then once a day will be sufficient.

Why is a parcel that has been undone and tied up again like a well-known historical event? Because it is recorded.

AT THE CITY HALL

THE regular meeting of the council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Councillors Martin, Outerbridge, Vinnicombe, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present. Very little business came up for discussion at this session.

The Nfld. Motor Association asked for information concerning Government grants and what proportion is allocated the City of St. John's for the building and maintenance of streets. The information will be forwarded.

The Nfld. Board of Trade notified the Council that the following members had been appointed to co-operate in the management of Bowring Park, namely: Sir Edgar Bowring, L. C. Outerbridge and D. M. Baird. The three members selected from the Council Board are Messrs Ryan, Dowden and Collier. These gentlemen, with the Mayor ex-officio, will form the Bowring Park Committee.

Application of Mr. Geo. M. Browne to have certain repairs made to Coleman's Lane, off Circular Road, was granted.

The following matters were referred to the city engineer: Communication from J. Quigley, re condition of sidewalk, Pleasant St.; petition of residents Casey St., to have the tank recently removed, placed in its former position.

Permits were granted the following subject to the approval of the city engineer: W. Spurrell, extension to dwelling, Quidi Vidi Road; W. Chafe, repairs to dwelling, Stewart Avenue; Maritime Drug & Commission Coy., to erect sign, Water Street.

Mr. James Murdoch applied for new street line, Cockpit Road. This will be looked after by the city engineer.

Regarding the using of buildings in residential sections for laundry purposes, the City Solicitor informed the Board he was of opinion nothing could be done in the case of those already established, but that they could withhold permits from any future applicants. With regard to complaints made by owners of adjacent buildings, he stated this was a private matter over which the Council had no control.

Medical Officer of Health reported eleven new cases of scarlet fever in the city during the week.

The reports of the city engineer and sanitary supervisor were tabled. Accounts for the week were ordered paid.

The meeting then adjourned.

POLICE COURT

The old man, Wm. French, who was recently released from the Penitentiary because he had to be sent there on a vagrancy charge having no home was picked up by the police last night. The unfortunate man tottered to the bar. This paper has several times called attention to his condition and pointed out that able-bodied men were housed and fed at public expense while this poor unfortunate is allowed to perish. Judge Morris said he greatly sympathized with the old man and characterized it as uncivilized to have him wandering about liable to die from exposure, while beds were occupied by those who should be working.

A case of assault, where the father of an unfortunate girl pleaded guilty to assaulting a carpenter from the Higher Levels, was dismissed. The reasons given by the defendant was that he believed the complainant was encouraging his wayward daughter to keep away from her home.

The case against Joseph Burnstein for a breach of the Prohibition Act occupied the attention of the Court all the forenoon. Defendant conducted his own case and called three witnesses to-day and contradicted the evidence of Jarvis and his daughter. Burnstein contends he gave the defendant Jarvis free drinks and sheltered him because he was a crippled man. Jarvis promised to repay Burnstein by sending him a package containing a drop of White Eagle, from St. Pierre and a bundle of fish, but denied receiving payment for the liquor given the crown witness. Judge Morris said he would give a judgment this afternoon.

Junior Football

The first game of the play-off for the Junior Championship took place last night at St. George's Field before a fairly large attendance of spectators. The game was fast and resulted in a win for the Cadets, by a score of 1 to 0.

Wesley won the toss and took advantage of the sun and wind. Play opened briskly, the forwards of both teams playing good combination at times. Wesley pressed matters for a while and bombarded the Cadet goal, but without result. After changing over, the Cadets became aggressive but Wesley backs guarded their territory well and there was no scoring.

Wesley now brought the ball up field, to be returned again, and a scrimmage occurred in front of Wesley goal. The ball had just been cleared out of danger when Dooley, the Cadet centre-half, obtained control, and with a beautiful drop shot, scored the winning goal.

Mr. T. Delahanty having resigned as official referee, it was hoped to secure Mr. Ern Churchill, but at the last moment, he found it impossible to attend, and the position was admirably filled by Mr. Fred Brien.

The championship will be decided by a round of games. The next game will be Holy Cross vs. Wesley, on Monday evening.

How To Cross The Street

It is being urged by the Canadian Automobile Association that there should be a debate a few minutes each day in the public schools of this and other Canadian cities to instruct children in the very great need of exercising greater care when crossing streets. Since the automobile has become such an important factor in our streets, all efforts to lessen accidents there cannot but have public approbation. It is to be sincerely hoped that the League will get the hearty co-operation of school principals in its commendable campaign. Street fatalities have now become so numerous, in practically all cities, as to create profound concern. Undoubtedly the problem of lessening these accidents is a complex one. It would be unjust to put all the blame for accidents on the shoulders of drivers. On the other hand, while the duty certainly devolves on pedestrians to "stop, look and listen" before venturing to cross streets, they should not be in danger of their lives if they chance to be off their guard for a moment. It is astonishing, however, when the peril of the streets is taken into consideration, to note the lack of care with which so many people leave the sidewalks and plunge into congested traffic.

In the matter of reckless driving, it is to the credit of the Automobile Association of this city that it most vigorously assails it; but there are always the uncontrollable ones. It is such drivers, and the thoughtless pedestrians, who supply the bulk of the street accidents. The most convincing proof is to hand that number less accidents could be prevented if proper forethought was observed on the part of the man on the street and the man at the wheel. Montreal Star.

"How can I prevent the colors running in my socks and stockings," asked Mrs. Newlywed.
"If a handful of salt is added to the water the socks or stockings are washed in, I am sure the colors will not run," replied Mrs. Neighbor.

"I often burn my hands while I am cooking, what can I use to take out the burn," asked Mrs. Newlywed.
"A little oil and flour is splendid and limewater and oil is good to apply. Wrap the burn in a soft cloth to keep out the air," replied Mrs. Neighbor.

Rotarians Dine Wistric Governor at Donovans

St. John's Rotary Club tendered a dinner to Rotarian Harvey L. Spangler, Governor of the 32nd District, at Donovans last evening. Rotarian Dr. Tim. Mitchell presided and there was a large gathering, including several guests.

Following the toast to the King, Rotary International was proposed by the chairman, who introduced the District Governor. The latter's reply was a master-piece of after-dinner speaking, and was listened to with deep interest by the gathering.

St. John's Rotary Club was proposed by Dr. J. Alex Robinson, in a happy speech and responded to by Rotarian Ernest A. Watson.

Rotarian Ruben Horwood spoke eloquently and pointedly to the toast "St. John's Boy Life," which was replied to in an eloquent and scholarly manner by Rt. Rev. Mgr. McDermott.

"Our Guests" was proposed by Rotarian Chas. E. Hunt, in his inimitably humorous manner, and was replied to by Mr. C. E. A. Jeffery.

The health of the chairman was proposed by Hon. H. A. Winter, B.A., and responded to by Dr. Mitchell.

Rotary songs, in which all took part, solos and duets, by Rotarians Williams, Ruggles and Kearney, with Rotarian Hutton at the piano interspersed the speaking. At the close, District Governor Spangler said a few words of appreciation, which will no doubt prove an incentive to the St. John's Rotary Club to greater efforts in years to come.

The singing of "God Save The King" and "Auld Lang Syne" brought a very pleasant evening to a close.

Motors Collide

A bad motor smash occurred at the corner of Pleasant Street and Patrick Streets about 5 o'clock last evening, when Mr. Dugald Munn's car collided with Louis Crocker's taxi.

Munn's car was bound west along Patrick Street, and Crocker's was coming down Pleasant Street. The impact was so great that the taxi was turned over on its side and considerably wrecked, while Mr. Crocker received slight wounds about the head.

Munn's car was also damaged, but the occupants escaped injury.

This is the second smash-up in which Crocker has figured recently, as a few weeks ago he collided with a street car and had his car put out of commission.

Tie-Cup Championship Will Be Played Tonight

This evening the Tie-cup championship game will be played on St. George's Field, and in order to avoid playing in the dark, the game will start at 5.45 with referee Ern Churchill in charge.

The contesting teams are the Guards and the Cadets who were the runners-up. The meet should provide one of the most exciting games of the season.

Concerning Dr. Hanson

On Wednesday night at the Presbyterian Hall, the first of a series of services was held in preparation for the visit of Dr. Hanson on the 14th of October.

The subject of study was "Revivals of the Bible, their nature and manifestation." Special prayer was offered for Dr. Hanson, the Kirk people and the community, that all may benefit by these services. Much interest has already been manifested, and as the time draws near, will increase.

On every morning of the week commencing October 14th, there will be teaching services, and in the evening they will be of a more general nature, to which the public are invited, as there is to be nothing denominational in any of the services.

Magical Beautifiers For Women

Women everywhere are trying all kinds of beautifiers, only to find that their effects are transitory. The first requisite of beauty is health. Without it the steps lag, eyes are lustreless, the dark circles appear beneath them, the complexion becomes sallow, and almost invariably the underlying cause is some ailment peculiar to women. There is a very inexpensive remedy for this condition in Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable compound, which for nearly fifty years has been relieving women from some of the worst forms of female ills. Why not let it restore you to health and beauty and the joys of living?
